Guarding your digital assets - EVault, is a premier online backup and recovery service that provides secure, reliable, efficient protection of your organization's critical data. This service gives you a professional-grade data protection infrastructure that safeguards your data without additional capital or IT expenses. With EVault, you'll get the same top-tier cloud infrastructure, team of storage experts, and state-of-the-art technology that powers backup and recovery for over 30,000 companies worldwide, as well as the online data protection services used by some of the world's largest managed service providers.

Netcom operates, manages and fully supports the EVault service directly from its data center; encrypted backup data is replicated to a secondary vault located in the UK, with 99.98% availability. This solution provides a perfect fit for any company who requires a complete backup and recovery managed service.

How it works - EVault centralizes the backup and recovery of data distributed throughout the organization—headquarters, branch offices, and even laptops. Data is automatically backed up over the Internet to a highly secure data center; this operation can be managed and monitored by you or by Netcom. Recovery is just as easy: when you need to restore data, simply navigate to the recovery point via an intuitive user interface, and then click.

Transfer Data Quickly and Efficiently - EVault can reduce transmitted data volume by more than 99%, dramatically minimizing storage space and bandwidth requirements.
